To Our Dahlia Friends:

We wish we could meet all of you personally and have a heart-to-heart dahlia chat, talking about the new varieties on the market this year, and reminiscing about old favorites. We had an especially good crop of roots last Fall, and by the way—speaking of old favorites we'd like to call your attention to our Super Value Root Collections. In each collection there is a variety of color, size and type. Take Collection No. 1, for instance, say for the new dahlia grower. Here is a group of easily grown, hardy dahlias that do well in practically any soil, and make very lovely cut flowers. For the more experienced dahlia fan who already has many of No. 1 varieties and would like something newer, No. 2 is a collection of favorites that would make your garden admired more than ever. And for you folks who would still rather have roots than plants, Collection No. 3 offers a dozen popular 1937 introductions which are a pleasure to grow and more pleasure to look at.

AND, we know you will be interested in looking over the latest varieties we have to offer. Included are many interesting beauties, such as Model 999, Rita Wells and Your Lucky Star. If you have been growing our plants, you will already have been convinced that getting the new introductions this way is a safe, economical way of having the latest varieties at minimum cost.

LAST, BUT NOT LEAST, we would thank you sincerely for your patronage and for your letters telling us how much you like our stock—and we'd tell you that we are looking forward to giving you the very best service possible again this year!

Best wishes for a successful dahlia season,

EDWARD'S DAHLIA GARDENS
